My name is Robbie Miniters, I was born in Gnowangerup and have been here ever since. Both myself and my wife have raised four daughters here in this community.

Becoming a shire councillor has been a goal of mine for quite some time as I have a deep love and understanding of this community and shire. With my collaborative approach and dedication to helping make our community better I believe I will be a positive contribution to the board of councillors.

I served the Gnowangerup shire for twenty years where I started as a trainee and made my way up to withholding a management role. After leaving the shire I worked in a role where I contributed to bettering other communities within the Great Southern, in 2018 I received an Order of Australia Medal for my work within those communities and with indigenous children. I am seen as a leader in the indigenous community and I believe I can provide the council with a unique perspective.
